Railroad Came Up To-Day.

The Harrisonburg union depot case will come up for hearing to-day before the State Corporation Commission. The suit is brought by the Commonwealth at the Felation of the commonwealth at the Felation of the commission against the Baltimore and Ohio, the Southern and the Valley Railroads. This is the second occasion on which the points involved have been before the commission. On the former occasion the Baltimore and Ohio was ordered to arrange for through passenger trains and the railroads were instructed to build a union passenger station.

The Baltimore and Ohio refused or talled to carry out the order of the commission, which body fined it. The road appealed to the Supreme Court on the ground that the hranch in question was in the name of the Valley Railroad, and that the latter had not been made a party to the case. On this ground the Supreme Court reversed the Corporation Commission.

Now the commission has the Valley Railroad included in its summons, and will proceed to hear the argument, unless there should for some reason be a continuance. It is understood that the railroads, will be represented by counsel.
